Hike in Diesel Price

374.SHRI RAJUBHAI A. PARMAR:
SHRIMATI VEENA VERMA:

Will the Minister of PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS be pleased to state:

(a) whether the prices of diesel have been increased recently; if so, to what extent and the net effective increase from State to State:

(b) how far it has resulted in pushing up transport cost of goods and passengers; and

(c) the steps, if any, taken to minimise the hardship of consumers?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS (SHRI E. PONNUSWAMY): (a) The ex-storage point price of diesel has been increased effective 6th October, 1999 from Rs. 6882.15/Kilolitre to Rs. 9634.60/Kilolitre. The net increase in the retail selling prices varies from State to State depending on freight, local taxes and other levies. A statement indicating the effective increase in different States is enclosed. (See below)

(b) and (c) Under the provisions of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, State Governments have been vested with the power to fix fares and freight. Besides, transportation of goods by road is mainly in the private sector where market determines the cost of transportation. The price of diesel is fixed on the basis of import parity. The impact of rise/fall in international price of diesel is accordingly passed on to consumer. Since September, 1997, the prices of diesel were revised on ten occasions including six downward revisions.
